R. S. P. ROOFING,

FOR

ROOFING, WINDOW SHUTTERS, &c.

THE subscribers beg to call the attention of all those interested in roofing, to their GALVANIZED TIN PLATES, and to the many advantages which they possess over all metallic and other substances hitherto used for this purpose, possessing as they do, the strength and lightness of iron without its liability to rust, having now been tested several years, both in this country and in Europe. They are also less subject to expansion and contraction from sudden changes of the atmosphere, than common Tin Plate, Iron Zinc, &c., or any other metal now used for roofing, and consequently form a much better and tighter roof, requiring far less frequent repair, while the first cost is but little more.

The subscribers would also call the attention of all dealers and workers in metals, to the many other purposes to which Iron thus protected, can be applied. In general terms it is applicable to all articles of iron which it is desirable to protect from the action of the atmosphere. And they would especially call the attention of those interested in TELEGRAPHIC LINES, to their Galvanized Wire, which is now almost entirely used in Europe, and which answers every purpose as a conductor of electricity, costing only about one half as much as copper, and possessing equal durability with that metal.

Having lately erected works in this city for the purpose of galvanizing Nails, Spikes, Bolts, Wire, &c., they will be able to furnish any article which may be desired. A supply of Plates (manufactured in Europe) constantly on hand, from 16 to 32 wire gauge.

A very important disease over which this Balsam exerts a very powerful influence, is that of a

In this complaint it has undoubtedly proved more efficacious than any remedy hitherto employed, and in numerous instances where patients had suffered long and severe suffering from this disease, without deriving the least benefit from various remedies, even when MERCURY has been resorted to intravein, the use of this Balsam has restored the LIVER to a healthy action, and in many instances effected a

Opinion of a Regular Physician.

Exeter, Me., Sept. 30 1845.

This certifies that I have recommended the use of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry for diseases of the Lungs, for years past, and to my knowledge have been benefited by patients, with wonderful results. In two cases where it was thought her dread consumption had taken place, the Wild Cherry effected a cure.

The unparalleled and astonishing efficacy of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry in all the diseases for which it is recommended, curing many cases after the skill of the most eminent physicians had effected a large and increasing demand for it. The Sugar-Coated Pills.

A NEW SARSAPARILLA PREPARATION.

To cure Diseases, Purify the Blood! To avoid them, keep it pure!!

That I manufacture on which exposes the human frame to the infection and virulence of every class of disorders, proceeds directly or indirectly, from a morbid state of the system caused by

IMPURE BLOOD.

HALSEY'S SUGAR-COATED MAGIC LIFE PILLS. The originator of the only true and genuine Sugar coated Pills, most respectfully informs the enlightened public that this new and elegant preparation can be obtained only from advertise agents and at the proprietor's establishment No 82 Broadway, N. York—Price 25 cents a single box, 5 boxes for one dollar.

G. W. LADD Agent for Bangor

Among the numerous remedies which stand reputable on the basis of an ancient name, are none perhaps which have acquired so great celebrity and extensive use in so short a time as this invaluable article.—They have gained their high reputation, alone by their good works. Those who once try them, always use them again. They are grateful to the stomach;—they improve the functions of secretion, nutrition and circulation. They restore digestion and appetite, and create a natural warmth inwardly, which glows through the whole system, giving great vitality and animation. The extraordinary cures of thousands attest to their good effects. After using them for a short time the hitherto wretched invalid finds that all disagreeable and unhealthy humors have forsaken his system. His digestive organs perform their proper functions; his blood regains its wonted purity, the oppressive sense of weakness and pain departs, and his body becomes endowed with renewed strength and vigor—while the mind resumes its original vivacity and clearness. Such are the results produced by Halsey's Sugar-coated Pills, the mildest, yet most effectual preparation of the class in use.

For BILLIOUS complaints, Costiveness, Indigestion Dyspepsy, and all other disorders of the stomach they produce the most happy results. For Sores, Boils, Salt rheum, Tetter, Erysipelas, Eruptions of the Skin, Scrofulous complaints and many other like diseases arising from IMPURE BLOOD, they have become highly celebrated. Hundreds of certificates have been received from individuals who after having taken them for a few weeks, according to the directions which accompany the box) were cured of the most afflicting cases of scrofulous affections. They give Good Blood for Bad. Bottles of the boasted Sarsaparillas, can gain less of the true virtues of that valuable plant, and are less effectual than a single box of these extraordinary Pills. In Colds, Coughs, Influenza, Sore Throat, Headache, Giddiness, &c., they are recommended with entire confidence; the relief in these cases is quick and permanent. For Fever and Ague, Fevers Asthma, Piles, Loss of Appetite, Dropsy, and many of the various other diseases which the human system is liable, they have proved an infallible remedy. Their action on the bowels is of the mildest character, even over doses never causing griping or unpleasantness, yet they are searching and efficient. It is impossible by words, to give an adequate idea of the great and good effects these pills produce and their superiority over every other remedy of a similar class; a trial only will explain the wide difference. The unhappy invalid after having tested but a single box of them, will with joy for their unexampled change wrought in his health, bear testimony to their uncommon virtues.

N. B. The coating of sugar adds nothing to the great virtues of the Magic Life Pills, it is their uncommon powers in promoting health, on which all their merits stand; notwithstanding this, they are the original sugar-coated pills. The proprietor made this valuable improvement to preserve their curative virtues entire, as well to render them pleasant to the taste, yet individuals of no principle have counterfeited other pills, coated them, and through the base and silly pretense on to a patent are distributing them about the country, deceiving the public by imposing of them unjustly through the already acquired reputation and popularity of the genuine Halsey's Sugar-coated Pills. In order to get the true and original sugar-coated pills, see that the engraved signature (G. W. Hersey) is on the label of each box, and buy only of advertised agents.

Vegetable Intermina Remedy

FOR THE PILES!

A Cure for Life Secured.

For the cure of Piles, Inflammation of the Liver and Spleen, Inflammation, Soreness and Ulceration of the Stomach, Sourness, Kidneys and Bladder, Inflammatory and Mercurial Rheumatism, Impurity of Blood, Weakness, and Inflammation of the Spine; and for the relief of Married Ladies.

THE VEGETABLE PILE ELECTUARY—Invented by Dr Al Upham, a distinguished physician of New York city, is the only really successful remedy for that dangerous and distressing complaint, the Piles, ever offered to the American public.

Mark this: it is an INTERNAL REMEDY—not an external application, and will cure in any case of Piles, either Bleeding or Blind Internal or External; and probably the only thing that will. There is no mistake about it; it is a positive cure; speedy and permanent. It is also a most eminent medicine to take, and improves the general health in a remarkable manner.

Each box contains twelve doses, at 8 1 3 cts. per dose. It is very mild in its operation, and may be taken in case of the most acute inflammation without danger. At external applications are in the highest degree disagreeable, inconvenient, and offensive; and from the very nature of the disease, temporary in their effects. The Medicine attacks the disease at its source, and removing the cause, renders the cure certain and permanent.

INFLAMMATORY DISEASES—Although the Electuary was originally prepared for the cure of Piles, yet it has proved itself, to be a medicine far superior to all others, in all diseases of an inflammatory character, with a determination of blood to any particular part or organ. In inflammation and Congestion of the Liver and Spleen, Inflammation, Soreness and Ulceration of the Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys, and Bladder; in Inflammatory and Mercurial Rheumatism it is the best Medicine ever discovered.

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD—For all Impurities of the blood, arising from the imprudent use of mercury, or other causes; for all Diseases of the Skin and Scrofulous affections; in all cases where the Blood is powerfully determined to the Head, producing dizziness and distress, Dr. Upham's Electuary invariably unriddles.

TO MARRIED LADIES—Married Ladies are almost invariably subject to that painful and injurious disease, the PILES, with consequent inflammation of the stomach, bowels and spine, weakness of the back, flow of blood to the head, &c. The Electuary is perfectly safe for Pregnant Ladies, and the most useful Cathartic that can possibly be used, as it will not only remove the Piles and all inflammatory diseases, without pain or irritation, but will ensure an easy time, a safe delivery, and a sound constitution in the offspring.

CURE FOR THE PILES GUARANTEED.—The Electuary contains no mineral medicines; no Aloes, Colocynth, Camboge, or other powerful and irritating Purgatives. No fear of taking cold while under its influence, no change in diet is necessary. If taken according to the directions, A sure Cure for Life is Guaranteed.

WHIG NOMINATION.

For Register of Deeds,

ISAAC W. PATTEN.

Mr Calhoun's Resolutions.

The following are the resolutions with Mr. Calhoun offered in the Senate on the 19th inst. accompanied with a speech which attracted much attention.

Resolved, That the territories of the United States belong to the several States composing the Union, and are held by them as their joint and common property.

Resolved, That Congress, as the joint agent and representative of the States of this Union, has no right to make any law, or do any act whatever, that shall directly, or by its effects, make any discrimination between the States, by which any of them shall be deprived of its full and equal right in any territory of the United States, acquired or to be acquired.

Resolved, That the enactment of any law which shall directly, or by its effects, deprive the citizens of any one of the States of this Union emigrating with their property into any of the territories of the United States will be such discrimination, and would, therefore, be a violation of the constitution, and the right which the citizens of the United States thus emigrating would thereby acquire, in derogation of that perfect equality which belongs to them as members of this Union, would tend directly to subvert the Union.

Resolved, That, as a fundamental principle in the political creed that all people in forming a constitution have the unconditional right to alter and abolish the government which they may deem best calculated to secure their liberty, prosperity and happiness, and that in conformity to this principle no condition is imposed by the Constitution on a State in order to be admitted into this Union, except that its constitution shall be republican; and that the imposition of any condition by Congress would be a violation of the constitution, and in direct conflict with the principle on which our political system rests.

Benton was displeased with the introduction of these abstractions as he called them and Calhoun replied by saying that, the constitution is an abstraction. Propriety is an abstraction all the great rules of life are abstractions. The declaration of Independence was made on abstraction; and when I hear a man declaim against abstract truth in a case of this kind I am prepared to know what his course is.

☞ We have received from Dr. Ponce a catalogue of the officers, alumni, and students of the Theological Seminary in this city.

The present number of members is thirty six—class 17, Middle class 10, Junior class 9.

It seems like old times, when our city was a village, when we read over the names of the officers and students of this Seminary as existing a quarter of a century since. Professors Smith and Fowler, and the students Chapman, Jackson, Jones, Sheldon, Wilson and Bowles.

They take us back to old times, when the anniversary of the institution furnished the great attraction of our village, and when the large assembly was expressed by the people here, that it would become a "growing village" by the students that would come here to be educated.

Bangor has grown, and doubtless the establishment of the Seminary here, has contributed something to that end. The facilities for pursuing theological studies here are good—the location of the Seminary is delightful—the faculty has the confidence of the religious community with which they harmonize and we see not why the institution should not flourish equal to the highest wishes of its friends.

☞ Robert Owen publishes in the Washington National Era, this plan for the abolition of slavery, viz: that all slaves born after January, 1850, shall be educated by the State governments and prepared to become good and useful citizens, and after serving an apprenticeship equal to their assumed value to their owners they shall be colonized in some territory set apart for them by the government; those in service at the date named, to remain in servitude, or otherwise, at the pleasure of the owners.

☞ The Columbian Magazine for March, has the following contributors by L. Maria Child, Lydia H. Sigourney, Anna S. Stephens, Edgar A. Poe, John Inman, &c., with poetry by Frances S. Osgood, Fanny Forester, Anna Blackwell, Mrs. Mercier, Mrs. D. E. Goodman, &c. "Glee Maiden," and "The Anglers" by Dick. Also the principal embellishments, and very fine. We have seldom met a better number of a popular work. It may be had at Colby Bugbee's Period cal depot.

☞ The New Hampshire Election will take place on Tuesday, the 9th of March next. In all quarters of the State, we notice, an exceedingly spirited canvass is going on. The papers of each party are filled with the most earnest appeals to voters, and the best speakers are put prominently forward as advocates of their respective creeds. The coming election will doubtless be the most hotly contested one that New Hampshire has witnessed for years.

☞ The estimate of the surplus of wheat and Indian Corn for export the present year, is thus stated after careful inquiry, viz:

Wheat,	3,000,000 bushels
Flour,	3,500,000 barrels
Indian Corn and Meal,	17,000,000 bushels

☞ On Tuesday, 23rd, Mr. Daniel Bane was drowned at the City Mills. The ice upon which he stepped, gave way and threw him into the sluice. He has left a wife and one child. His body had not been recovered last evening.

☞ Those who take ordinary care of themselves and are prudent, it is proved by the calculations of experience in England, stand only one chance out of half a million of meeting with any injury.

☞ The steamer Portland, Capt. Rogers, will leave Boston on the 10th of March, for Frankfort. She will leave Frankfort for Boston on Monday the 15th at seven o'clock, A. M.

☞ There was an alarm of fire last evening caused by the burning of a chimney on Harlow Street.

FOREIGN ITEMS.

Sweden has determined on abolishing slavery in the island of St Bartholomew, the only colony it possesses in the West Indies. A sum of $20,000 is to be devoted annually until the freedom of all the slaves shall be reconciled.

The Pope has introduced important reforms in the administration of criminal justice, and continues to manifest the same liberal opinions as on his election. The love of the people towards him appears to increase every day.

There have been some disturbances occasioned by the scarcity of corn and the consequent dearness of food in Tuscany and Naples, the discontent of the people is very great, and the governments are continually in dread of an outbreak.

Accounts from Constantinople, dated 13th January, announce that the Circassians have gained a brilliant victory over the Russians. On the 19th December, they stormed Marquki, having completely defeated the Russians, and killed great numbers of them. The loss of the Circassians was 300 men. When the accounts left they were preparing to attack Abdulinsk.

The Prussian Universal Gazette, of the 28th ult., publishes a letter dated St. Petersburg, Jan. 21, which states that the army of the Caucasus had, on the 28th of November last, obtained a victory over a body of 500 Circassians, who attempted to carry off some herds of cattle belonging to the Russian troops on the line of the Sundscha. The Circassians were repulsed with the loss of three killed and ten severely wounded, which they succeeded in carrying off with them in the retreat.

The papers of Paris are much occupied with discussions on the subject of the affairs of the United States and Mexico.

One hundred thousand barrels of Flour had been ordered from the United States for France, of which thirty-five thousand had arrived.

On the 1st February, Lord Brougham presented a petition in the House of Lords from the Mayor, magistrates and other inhabitants of Liverpool in relation to the influx of Irish paupers into Liverpool. In the course of 14 days, 1,104 had arrived from Ireland and sought relief as poor persons. They wished a law passed to compel the people of Ireland to support the poor of that country.

At a recent town meeting in Bath the following votes were passed:

Voted, That the Selectmen be directed to use extraordinary and efficient means, such as they deem most expedient, at the expense of the Town, for procuring conviction of all violations of the law, to restrict the sale of intoxicating drinks.

Voted, That the Selectmen be directed not to compromise in any case of prosecution or conviction with the violators of the law.

Also, in all cases, where they are satisfied the witnesses have wilfully and freely committed perjury, to cause them to be prosecuted for the crime.

Voted, That the Selectmen be directed, in behalf of the Town, to petition the Legislature to pass an act to enact, making it binding in possession of any intoxicating liquors with the intent to sell, a nuisance, and directing the abatement of such nuisances, and the forfeiture and disposal of all liquors and implements so held in possession. And providing also, that the owners of buildings in which spirituous or intoxicating liquors are sold contrary to law, shall be liable to a fine for every case in which such sale has been made.

Lombard Plum.

This plum is called by Mr. Kenrick, in his Orchardist, the variegated plum by reason of its beautiful colors.

It is said to have originated in Holland, the name being lost when it was imported. Others say it was raised from the seed by Judge Platt of Whitestown, New York, and is known in that vicinity by the name of Bleecker's Scarlet.

The Massachusetts Horticultural Society named it the Lombard Plum, in compliment to Mr. Lombard who first introduced it in Massachusetts.

It is considered a valuable variety though not a high flavored plum. It unites many sterling qualities. The tree is a rapid grower and will thrive on a stone pitch or in a stiff clay—in a grass ground or a well cultivated plot. It also adapts itself to various climates as well as soils. Like the Imperial Gage, it is one of the hardiest and most productive of plums, but is not so liable to the attacks of the Curculio as many others.

Fruit of medium size, nearly round—the color being beautiful as it is set red in the sun, and more pale in the shade, sprinkled with red dots and covered with a thin bloom. Flesh yellow, juicy, and of a pleasant flavor. A cling-stone. Ripens in August.

A distinguished member of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society called my attention to this plum, as it possessed so many valuable properties—and one of the most extensive growers of the plum in the vicinity of Albany, also said to me, if I were to cultivate but one I would select the Lombard plum, for it never fails of yielding annually a bountiful crop.

Duane's Purple.

Duane's Purple, French of Prince.

Facts have come to light which prove this large plum to be a native of Schenectady, N. York, instead of its being of French origin. The pomological history of it is as follows—See September number of the Horticulturist for more full accounts of it.

In 1820 Judge Duane imported some plum trees from France. The abel was lost from one tree, which he planted in his garden. About the year 1825, it having fruited, he sent scions of it as he supposed, to his friend Wm. Prince, Esq., of Flushing; but his gardener by mistake put the scions from a native tree standing near, instead of the imported one. Mr. Prince, not aware of the error, named it "Duane's Purple French" and disseminated it from the nursery as a fine French plum. Last season the facts were discovered. The scions Judge D. intended to send Mr. P. were what now proves to be the "Prince Plum" from France. Duane's Purple is a large showy acid plum, but not equal in flavor or size to the Columbia.

Coe's Golden Drop

Is a large and highly valuable yellow, egg-shaped plum, very noted in England as well as this country; but it comes to maturity so late in the season, that, to insure its ripening well on the tree, particularly when winter sets in early, it should be planted on the South side of a building or a high fence, in a warm location where it can have as much sun as possible.

Mr. Ives, of Salem, Mass., takes this occasion with his variety, in his own garden, and if necessary with him, it must be more so with us.

If, however, in unfavorable seasons and the tree is in an exposed situation, the fruit does not fully ripen, it will still be valuable for preserving.

It is a mistake to suppose that the louder a man talks the more he knows.

☞ The R. A. Chapter will meet this evening on the seventh degree.

☞ Col. Bugbee has received Graham's Mag azine for March. It is a good number.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier.

SIR:—

In the present movements of the Temperance Societies, I observe that you have given those persons in favor of the prevailing mode of doing the Temperance business, very liberal opportunities to utter their sentiments through your paper. As one of the old Temperance men, I have to request that you will copy the following article from "Chambers' Journal,"—it being a good expression of the views of a large class of Temperance men now among us, who do not like to take open opposition to the course now pursued, but would merely say to the other side, in a word.—here are our views, written down and unchanged.

H.

Intemperate abuse of Intemperance.

Our attention has been directed to a controversy, unpleasant in its features and useless in its tendency on the subject of temperance, in a provincial print. Certain severe strictures by a correspondent on the alledged intemperance of a particular town appear to have excited the ire of the general inhabitants, and led to an indignant defence of the specific charges, which, without any bad intention, had been somewhat reckless and imprudently made. The occurrence of this circumstance, unfortunately not new in the history of the temperance movement induces us to point out the impolicy of all kinds of severity in attempts to remedy either individual or social imperfections.

The whole history of mankind, we believe affords no instance of a vice or folly of any kind being eradicated by direct and severe attack.—The vengeance of the law, and the scolding of the wise and virtuous, are equally powerless in wresting from error. This was signally manifested in the case of witchcraft, which, in defiance of every severity, and reproof, continued to be believed and pretendedly practised by large masses of people. The superstition in point of fact, scarcely lessened in virulence so long as it was exposed to legal pains and penalties; and had the laws against witchcraft not been very properly abolished, witches it all probability would have existed till the present day. How valuable this lesson! Certainly death by burning at the stake could not put down witchcraft. Preaching, lecturing, scolding—every available indignity which could be heaped on the heads of the poor wretches—were equally powerless. When, however in the progress of social improvement, it became the practice to laugh at or disregard the pretensions to witchcraft, witches disappeared, and, except among a few illiterate fanatics, we are now heard of.

Similar instances of the value of forbearance in repressing evil habits and crimes could be produced from the experience of modern times. Harshness in the law is now justly believed to defeat the ends for which laws were made.—Nor is this a surprising result of human feelings; all undue severity usually raising sympathy in the case of even the most abandoned malefactor. We accept it as one of the most pleasing features of the age, that error is no longer exposed to an unreasoning and ven.eful condemnation, but is treated with a calm and humane consideration of circumstances.

To this improvement in general feeling we regret to find a too frequent exception in the members of temperance societies. Our allusion to this circumstance, we trust, will not be misunderstood. To temperance movement we give the most unqualified approbation, and it is only our sincere respect for the cause that induces us to remonstrate on the unnecessary warmth with which it is occasionally advocated by its prosely tes. The world, we can assure them, is not to be overcome by calling names, by scolding, or by any other species of intemperance in language; it may be doubtful, indeed, if abuse does not aggravate the evil, by putting the accused on the defensive, and causing them to raise the counter-cry of sour and affected puritanism. Besides, on what principle of justice be it upon has any one the right violently to attack the habits of a brother, granting that these are not all that they should be? Interference in such matters unless as a measure of police, is altogether monstrous, and can never obtain the favorable consideration of any but an inferior order of minds.

What, then, would we recommend to be done? Persuade and enlighten as much as you please, but let it be done gently. Let all reasonable measures be adopted to limit excess in the number of those establishments whence the means of intemperance are procured. But dense every kind of such gland abuse, whether against Puritan tipplers, or those who professionally supply them with liquors. Above all, keep in view that one kind of indulgence may always be best extirpated by the substitution of another. A disease has to be cured; in the augurance of medicine, raise a counter-irritant. The manner in which this may be done will at once suggest itself. Place within the reach of all, the means of harmless and cheerful recreation.—What are these means? They consist of reading-rooms, popular lectures, books, concerts, public parks, and subscriptions and comfortable houses. Fastidious persons, who find fault with everything, are alarmed lest such aids as these should advance the intellectual without improving the moral qualities of the people.—Let them remain quite at their ease in this respect. The principal object to be served by reading-rooms, lectures, and so forth, is the furnishing of harmless for pernicious recreations. The question is not whether people might not be better employed if left to themselves, but whether they will be. We take a workman just emancipated from his labor in the evening: his home is squalid, or at least confined and dull: he has a craving for some kind of excitement: he meets a companion, and after a little chat, they adjourn to the public house where the brilliancy of the fire, the smiles and gossip of the land old, and the inspiration of the liquor, make the time pass pleasantly away; in other words, a demand for a necessary degree of excitement has led to pernicious indulgence. Instead of railing at and dragooning this unfortunate pair of individuals, we propose never alluding to their delinquency, of which perhaps they are already somewhat ashamed. We substitute what they have been all along standing in need of, but never have had the sense to express—a means of excitement of which, while exhilarating, shall not injure, but probably improve them. Opposite to the public house, or at least somewhere quite in the way, we establish a reading-room—a hall is covered with newspapers, magazines, and books; a cheerful fire blazes in the grate; the place is clean and comfortable, and a dozen respectable men are seated round, each and all some intellectual feast. Taste is absolutely virtue in the spectacle; the very thought of whiskey in such a place would be almost felt to be a sin. Does any one presume to tell us that this counter-irritant would not, in very many cases, draw away and put an end to a non social disease?

After all, however, great as is our faith in places of public recreation, we incline to think that in a taste for home pleasures lies the means of radically curing intemperance. It has not been by public places of resort of any kind that the higher and middle classes have been improved to their present standard, but by the charms of home, improved dwellings, private feeding, and converse. One night lately, we were at a party of about a dozen ladies and gentlemen. After tea there was miscellaneous conversation people moving about the room at the ease; then there was a little music and dancing, lastly, a slight refection, in which cakes and lemonade predominated. All separated in the best possible spirits; the evening had been spent rationally and most delightfully.—There was not a drop of spirits drunk, and yet there was not a teetotaller in the company—the whole thing was but a result of gradually-improved tastes and habits. The same night, as I afterwards learned from the newspapers, there were party of individuals of a humble class assembled for dancing in a public-house in a neighboring street. After dancing they fell to drinking; from drinking they proceeded to fighting; and the police being called in, the whole were lodged in the watch-house. This was bad—but Oh we groan over it as an incurable evil! No such thing. The fighting party only obeyed their tastes and instincts; and gave the proper time and opportunities of improvement, they will by and by conduct themselves like the other party over the way. A century ago, gentlemen and ladies drank, snarled, and fought in taverns. Now, they have no taste for such exhibitions; they like to sit at home, reading or conversing with their families and friends. Will the working classes ever be brought to this pitch of refinement? There can be no doubt of it. The habits of our own day is superior in many respects to the gentleman of sixty years ago. Education of course has had a little to do in effecting this change of manners; and when the whole body of the people shall receive the advantages will a broad system of education will confer, they can scarcely fail to exhibit a corresponding advance in their language and ideas. In addition to educational influences we have now the influence of women, which the last age has not. Refined female minds, tastes and habits are operating to advance the whole body politic. Freeing any be deemed fool, but examine, when it this case is fashion, is contagious. Download down will this spirit of refinement descend, but it leavens the entire mass.—Woman's mission, now, for the first time, beginning to be understood is, however, of too great importance to come in at the conclusion of a treatise, and we shall leave the subject for treatment on another occasion.

Shocking Murder.

Jeremiah Curtis, Esq., has placed in our hands a letter from an attorney at Dublin Laurens Co. (Ga.) dated 15th inst. which announces the murder of Dr. B. L. Hussey, formerly of Orrington, in this State, where his parents now reside.—Mr. H. was travelling in that for merchants in different parts of the country. The letter states that he was murdered on the morning of the 15th inst. about daylight, by a young man calling himself John W. Gibbs, who it seems, was travelling with Mr. H. He was stabbed in eighteen places, and died immediately. Gibbs is in jail and will be tried next month. Mr. Hussey's effects are in safe keeping. The letter gives no clue to the cause of the murder.

Mr. Hussey was a passenger in the ill fated steamer "Home," a few years since, when he lost his wife. [Mercury.

It has been beautifully said that the veil which covers the face of futurity is woven by the hands of Mercy; yet how often do we desire to draw aside the veil and to gaze upon the consequences, even though we know not whether it shall be a glorious or a grief! What a blessing is it that such efforts are unavailing! For trials and misfortunes are more easily endured than the fears which shadow they cast before them; and happiness is never so complete as when it comes at the moment we are least expecting it.

☞ H. B. sends a friend to one of our officers who is going to the war, "have you made your will?"

"Certainly," said B., "I made a will, I forgive all my fellows owe, and call upon all who owe me to pay up."

"Come Turon, get up my good boy; it is after sun rise."

"What of it, Master? What if he is up rise? Sposin sun rise two hours before day? Poor Tom must get up, cause sun rise, eh? Don't come that game over de nigger, no how."

"Have you ever seen the peculiar motion of a cod fog in some old lady to her husband, one day.

"Yes, my dear," replied the gallant husband. "What inquired she.

"Between your jaws my love."

"Mr. Pendleton wants to know as how if you wouldn't lend her two or three sticks of wood?"

"Yes, three we who logs—but you didn't return the last you borrowed."

"No, nor I won't take them 'mout you split 'em."

A gentleman, intending on being waited by a spruce widower to become the mother of his children.

[For the Whig & Courier.]

To my Mother.

Mother dear mother! in thy heart
No'w seem for me the calm and quiet rest
For which, I seem to see thee sitting sad,
Whenever I owe the setting sun.
For then, I seem to see thee sit
At evening draws around her pall,
Mind ing upon thy lonesliness,
Or that most lonely hour of all.

Mother, it is years now past away
The happiest hour we ever under;
For dying fires gathered round the hearth
Together found the bright fireside;
Those faces all are scattered now;
One stranger hand is press our own heartsthone;
Half those kind forms have gone to sleep in death,
And thou, dear Mother, art alone.

Mother, I've any of the world
No spot is like my Highland Home!
My vision I close the heart sees drought
Of pleasures whence the form is gone!
And though our hearts is press fine,
And one those forms no more I see,
Yet, Mother, still thy love is ours;
My weary heart returns to thee!

Kind Words.

BY ALICE GRAY.

What a world of deep sweetness
There is in the tone
That comes of us kindly
When words and one;
Expressed down in the heart,
What rest could we find
If love else cheered us
With words that are kind?

The flowing of music,
When morning is bright,
Melodion, be spirit
Like angels sights of light.
For O, they are pleasing
To the ears of the lords,
But never, no never,
So sweet as kind words.

They set in the shadow
Of trial and sorrow,
And dreamed about angels
And songs that they sung.
Thy're lovely—such visions
By fancy combined,
But O, how much sweeter
Are words that are kind.

O then, who are favored
With fortune and friends,
In your cup of gladness
No bitter dross blends:
Who cheer the tempter
Is spreading his snare,
Remember, I charge thee,
Thy brother is there
And though all degraded,
And sinful and blind,
Thou ye may'st redeem him
With words that are kind.

FOSTER'S MOUNTAIN COMPOUND

seems to be the only article for the hair, in which the public has placed implicit confidence. Its "powerful tonic" and peculiar efficacy in the reproduction of the hair, aside from its virtues in giving richness and a lasting moisture, long ere this any thing else had precedence with both ladies and gentlemen, over every other article heretofore invented for the bath.

Nothing of like kind to appearance or composition. It is adapted in all its parts to the cure of all diseases of the hair and skin. An essay with an illustrative drawing, showing the direction of the skin and hair, with directions, is enclosed with each bottle. Sold by Messrs. A. Gould and Geo. W. Ladd, (Druggists,) only agents.

BY THE LAST MAIL.

CONGRESS.

Washington, Feb 19, P. M.

In the Senate to-day, a number of petitions were presented and referred.

The Vice President presented a communication from Mr Evans, Senator from Maine, resigning his office as one of the Regents of the Smithsonian Institute, and this resignation was accepted, and Mr. Pierce of Maryland was appointed in his place.

The Vice President also presented to the Senate a communication from Mr Hess, one of the editors of the Union asking that he was included in the order taking away the privilege of a seat on the floor of the Senate of the "Editor of the Union."

Mr. Webster presented the petition of some citizens of Boston in favor of peace.

The bill providing for field officers of the new ten regiments was after some discussion passed over without a vote.

Mr. Tuck spoke on the Three Million bill.

In the House, Mr. McKay from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported a bill appropriating two millions additional for the use of the army for two years.

Mr. Winthrop eloquently opposed the bill and offered an amendment against making any appropriation for the purposes of conquest.

Mr. Pendleton also spoke eloquently against the bill.

Mr. C. J. Ingersoll spoke in favor of prosecuting the war with vigor.

The debate continued until the House adjourned with the exception of a personal explanation from Mr. Mc Kennan as to an allusion in his speech of Saturday.

Yellow Fever among the U. S. Troops in Mexico.

One New Orleans Mail has arrived. The Picayune has a rumor that the U. S. Troops at Tampico have been attacked by the yellow fever.

☞ Wilmer's Times has the following brief item:—"It is stated that a loan of four millions sterling has been negotiated for the United States, by a well known city firm." The firm alluded to is probably the Messrs. Rothschilds.

☞ The snow storm which commenced in Boston on Sunday continued to Tuesday morning. In this city, during the days, the weather has been delightful, bright and beautiful. The sighing is "as sticking grease."

☞ The Boston Traveller states that the Sunday mail on the Eastern Railroad is to be discontinued, in compliance with orders just received from the Post Office Department.

☞ The price of Flour in Boston has declined thirty seven and a half cents a barrel, since the arrival of the foreign news. The decline in this city is about fifty cents.

☞ We are indebted to Jerome & Co's Express for a copy of the European Times and other papers, of the latest date.

☞ It is rumored and believed that Col. Webb has been appointed a Brigadier General, by the President.

HALE'S PURE RUBBER MACHINE BELTING,

For Sale by LUKE C. CHILDS, 67 Water St., BOSTON.

THE above superior article is fast superseding the use of Leather Belting, as for most purposes it is in every way better. Its good qualities are that no degree of moisture will affect it, and it will bear almost any degree of heat. It is of equal width and thickness throughout, and requires only one lacing in the longest belt. Practical mechanics, who have used this particular manufacture, think there is a gain of 15 to 25 per cent in the movement of the machinery, as it is perfectly flexible, and runs with much less strain upon the pulleys and drums.

Also for sale as above—HOSE, and other Goods of Rubber material. lawtfm feb 23

WILD CHERRY and TAR,
Pulmonary Consumption, Influenza, Bronchitis, Pleurisy, Pains in the Breast, Blood Spitting, Inflammation of the Lungs &c &c

☞ In introducing this valuable medicine to the notice of the public, we deem it proper to state that we have been induced to do so by those at a distance who have used it, and by the repeated requests of our friends in this place.

From the Vincennes Sentinel Dec 16 1846
In our advertising columns will be found an advertisement of Dr Davis's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. We have used the Syrup ourself, and can say that we find it a pleasant and safe medicine, and we shall publish in a subsequent No. the certificates of its extraordinary virtues which have come under our notice.

From the Spirit of the Times, Dec 15, 1846
We ask attention to the advertisement of Dr Davis's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. It is a most valuable preparation for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, and all diseases of the throat and lungs. Dr Davis is a most estimable citizen, and his medicine is one of the most ample and satisfactory testimonials. Among the certificates we observe the names of a number of well known and respectable citizens.

From the Christian Reporter, Dec 19 1846
We insert in another column an advertisement of Mrs Robinson & Co's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. We take pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to this medicine. We do this more cheerfully, as we have used it in our own family, and have found it to be a most valuable remedy for coughs, colds, &c. We have also been acquainted with a number of the Messrs Robinson's customers, and have heard them speak in the highest terms of the medicine, and we believe that all those who have used it have been benefited by it. We have also been personally acquainted with Mrs Robinson, and can say that she is a lady of the highest respectability, and we believe that she would not advertise a medicine unless she had the most entire confidence in its virtues, as well as with a number of the most respectable citizens of this place, who are gentlemen of the highest standing, whose testimonials of confidence may be placed in the articles. We trust readers will consider such remarks as these as intended entirely for the benefit of the afflicted, and not as an advertisement.

From the Natchez Free Trader, Dec 18 1846
We refer our readers to the advertisement of Dr Davis's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. Many of the most respectable citizens of this place have used the medicine, and all concur in pronouncing it a most valuable remedy for coughs, colds, &c. Persons afflicted with coughs at this season of the year, would do well to give it a trial.

From the Natchez Courier, Dec 18 1846
We refer our readers to the advertisement of Dr Davis's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. We have used the medicine ourself, and can say that we find it a pleasant and safe medicine, and we shall publish in a subsequent No. the certificates of its extraordinary virtues which have come under our notice.

The Balsam is the only popular remedy [illegible] any power to dissolve, remove and cure [illegible] on the Lungs Incredible as this is generally esteemed, we have the most abundant [illegible] conclusive evidence to sustain the assertion that such is its direct and immediate effect, in all cases where there is no natural organic defect [illegible] fact so confident is the American Agent of its [illegible] to cure the worst form of this disease, that he prefers (as he has frequently stated) that it should be used by invalids who have been PRONOUNCED INCURABLE by the most eminent [illegible] physicians rather than by persons affected with a slighter form of disease—in order that its [illegible] might be more apparent He boldly declares that it will cure Tuberculous disease and [illegible] solicits a trial on the worst of cases.

EXPECTORATION! Free Expectoration [illegible] most important object to be attained in all [illegible] to cure diseases of the Chest and Lungs [illegible] Cough, which is so distressing is simply the [illegible] of a desire to expectorate, and as long as [illegible] matter exists in the air passages it will compel [illegible] to urge the [illegible] and provoke a [illegible] Coughing is an attempt to throw off the [illegible] and expectoration gives great relief [illegible] ty to expectorate in the latter stages of Consumption is the cause of death

The Hungarian Balsam is a great Expectorant—it dissolves the morbid and diseased matter in the passage, changes it from a thick, gluttonous substance to a thin harmless fluid, and throws it off in the greatest possible ease and comfort to the patient There is no better remedy than the Hungarian Balsam This painful and destructive affection which resists almost every thing else, yields to the all powerful influence of this great remedy as readily as any other form of Pectoral disease

CONSUMPTION! Consumption has been [illegible] fully described as Shrinking of one's self [illegible] Hungarian Balsam by its cleansing, warming, [illegible] and animating power produces, not shrinking but expansion!

Before its delightful influence, all chills, fever, night sweat costiveness weakness of the nails, a hot flushed skin an uncertain strength, emaciation and decline—disappear, like the poisonous dews of night before the glorious morning sun This is no [illegible] but demonstrable fact, sustained by incontestible proof from all parts of the country.

BE WISE TO DAY [illegible] any case of Consumptive tendency is emphatically Death under all ordinary treatment The Hungarian Balsam is a great ANTIDOTE as well as CURATIVE If you have any symptoms above described be advised in time!

CURE of CONSUMPTION, Coughs Spitting Blood Bronchitis, Asthma, Pain in the Chest Hoarseness, Loss of Voice Weakness of the Lungs, and all Complaints of the Throat and Lungs.

IT IS NOT OUR practice to notice the various popular medicines of the day, but in the present instance we are induced to deviate from our ordinary rule from the confidence we have in the medicine and the truth of the statements in relation to it It would be worse than useless for us to give our opinion of the merits of this preparation, when we can cite testimony of so much more weight, to the manner in which an article is received and stands in the place where it originates, where, from its use the public can judge of its value, has much to do in forming its character as a remedial agent This SYRUP is used and recommended by members of the Faculty of the Medical College in Philadelphia

Such test mony is alone sufficient to entitle it to public confidence Again, the low price at which it will places it within the reach of every one—in addition, this article possesses superior [illegible] to any other medicine within our knowledge [illegible] forms of disease
